

Another True Story about TrueSuccess' Impact

TrueSuccess helps train kids to develop social skills to relate well with others and help heal and improve relationships.

One morning Evan, a middle school student, was very disrespectful to his parents about his grades and schoolwork. He stormed out of the house and went to school. In one of his classes, Evan was moved to a new reality during a TrueSuccess lesson on Responsibility. The lesson brought Evan to tears because of the fight that morning with his parents about him not taking responsibility. He was so moved that he asked and got permission to immediately leave class and call home to address how he had acted that morning. Afterward, Evan was so relieved for taking responsibility to apologize and make things right with his parents.

This is another example of how your support for TrueSuccess can help more kids develop and apply social skills to build healthy relationships.